- a) Strategic development priorities and competency requirements, in line with the municipality's strategic objectives.
- b) The competency requirements of individual jobs. The relevant job requirements (job competency profile) as identified in the job description shall be compared to the current competency profile of the employee to determine the individual's competency gaps.
- c) Specific competency gaps as identified during the probation period and performance appraisal of the employee.

1.3.1.2.2. Individual training needs that are job / career related.

- a) Next, the prioritisation of the training needs must be listed since it may not be possible to address all identified training needs in a specific financial year. It is however of critical importance that training needs be addressed on a phased and priority basis. This implies that all these needs shall be prioritized for purposes of accommodating critical / strategic training and development needs in the Human Resource Plan, Personal Development Plans and Workplace Skills Plan.
- b) Consideration must then be given to the expected outcomes, to be listed in column 2 of Table 1, so that once the intervention is completed the impact it had can be measured against relevant output indicators.

- c) An appropriate intervention must be identified to address training needs / skills gaps and the outcome to be achieved but with due regard to cost effectiveness. These shall be listed in column 3 of Table 1, entitled: Suggested training and / or development activity in line with the National Qualifications Framework which could enable the trainee to obtain recognition towards a qualification for training undertaken. It is important to determine through the Training / Human Resource Development / Skills Development Unit within the municipality whether unit standards have been developed and registered with the South African Qualifications Authority that are in line with the skills gap and expected outcomes identified. Unit standards usually have measurable assessment criteria to determine achieved competency.
- d) Guidelines regarding the number of training days per employee and the nominations of employees: An employee shall on average receive at least five days of training per financial year and not unnecessarily be withdrawn from training interventions.
- e) Column 4 of Table 1: The suggested mode of delivery refers to the chosen methodology that is deemed most relevant to ensure transfer of skills. The training/development activity shall impact on delivery back in the workplace. Mode of delivery consists of, amongst others, self-study. [The official takes it upon him/her to read e.g. legislation]; internal or external training provision; coaching and/or mentoring and exchange programmes, etc.
- f) The suggested time frames (column 5 of Table) enable managers to effectively plan for the annum e.g. so that not all their employees are away from work within the same period and also ensuring that the PDP is implemented systematically.
- g) Work opportunity created to practice skill/development areas, in column 6 of Table 1, further ensures internalisation of information gained as well as return on investment (not just a nice to have skill but a necessary to have skill that is used in the workplace).
- h) The final column, column 7 of Table 1, provides the employee with a support person that could act as coach or mentor with regards to the area of learning.
